Companies in every industry have an obligation to not only secure the information they collect, but also to stay compliant with the regulations that are in place for each of their particular industries. This may seem like an extremely daunting task, but these regulations are in place to improve information security. Also, non-compliance can result in severe fines.

SNAP-Defense is a Next Generation Hunt + Respond platform that will not only detect breaches in their earliest stages, but will also automatically generate dynamically updated compliance reports for you; greatly simplifying the compliance and regulation portion of doing business and allowing you to focus on other areas that need attention.

The most difficult aspect of maintaining compliance in information security is determining which regulations apply to you and interpreting the requirements of the regulation. With SNAP-Defense, you no longer have to navigate these tedious and confusing tasks. SNAP-Defense does it for you!

"Our manufacturing sector customers have a distinct need for a cost-effective, easy-to-use, and efficient cyber defense stack and SNAP-Defense fits that bill for us. In addition, new regulations in Federal Defense contracting by DFARS requires defense contractors to have a plan for NIST 800-171 and the addition of the SNAP-Defense compliance module is a no-brainer for our companies. We have formed a strategic partnership with Blackpoint and are happy to provide a next-generation cyber defense offering that also helps satisfy tedious compliance requirements."
